Project itinerary

Arriving on Sunday a day to relax and settle into the new time zone.

First Day (Monday): If this is your first week, after breakfast, volunteers will have a training and orientation session about their volunteer project: what your tasks will be, as well as the Do's and Dont's in Peru. You'll discover all you need to know about the animal sanctuary.

You'll get plenty of background information about the many fascinating species of animals that are receiving support and attention as you learn about their special needs and behaviour. We'd like to make sure you're prepared the best way possible for your experience, so if you have any questions, don't hesitate to ask our experienced coordinator!

After the detailed introduction. Depending on the number of volunteers, some daily tasks can take place in the mornings or in the afternoons, in either of these cases, volunteers will always be able to make plans to visit the local village surroundings and beaches nearby.

Tuesday to Thursday

On the average day here you'll start your project and take part in environmental or conservation activities such as:

- Construction work
- Creating a natural fence
- Reforestation of cactus

- Vegetable garden and nursery maintenance
- Preparation of food for the animals
- Feeding animals
- Preparing material to teach general public and children about the animals.
- Expect about 6 hours of activities per day!

***Feeding the animals is not possible during reproduction time.******

Friday

After breakfast you will go to a nearby school and educate the children on the endangered animals at the sanctuary. This is a way volunteers help within the local community, to promote the conservation of the animals at the centre and raise awareness of environmental issues affecting the wildlife in Peru.

Evenings Volunteers are free to sightsee around the local area, do some shopping, and/or plan for the next day.

Weekends - Weekends are free. You are welcome to relax and hang out at the volunteer accommodation with other volunteers or you can use this time to travel and explore Peru with your new friends.

This schedule can be changed and/or amended depending on weather conditions, local conditions and unforeseen circumstances.
