Project overview

China is increasingly recognizing the need to open up to the Western world and integrate English as a common international language. This has sparked a new requirement that all schools primary level and above must teach English as a core subject to their students - with only one problem. A severe shortage of English teachers.

Your assignment will involve supplementing the lessons from the Chinese teachers of English and their classroom assistants through conversational practice in both spoken and written English. The focus is for students to build upon the English vocabulary and grammar 'first base' that many students have reached, and help them to attain fluency as well as improve their examination marks in order to get into a good university, and get a good job.

You do not need to be an expert in the complex rules of English grammar, as you will learn everything you need to know in the provided training. Throughout your time in China you will also be assisted with cultural awareness and Chinese language lessons throughout your training. You will also receive assistance to explore China and take short activity breaks during your weekends and time off.

Your practice teaching placement will be agreed between you and one of our contact schools at the end of your training period. Once there, you will help children learn the 4 essential English skills of speaking, listening, reading and writing in English with more confidence and improve their motivation to want to learn more.

Previous teaching experience is preferable for this role, although not mandatory. However, excellent spoken English is required.. We especially welcome people who have never visited China before. It helps to have a fun, outgoing and caring personality!

Your salary will depend on your experience and qualifications you can expect to earn anything from

Project itinerary

Week 1: Introduction

During this week you will receive an induction, and quickly come to feel at home in China. During your induction you will usually be with groups of people from many different countries who are undertaking our 'Cultural immersion week' as a prelude to commencing their visit to China. You will be looked after by (English speaking!) Chinese co-coordinators - and there is only one rule: that you feel able to ask anything you want to know about China and its culture, customs and history.

Monday to Friday

Depending on your prior teaching experience and qualifications, you may be placed directly into your placement by this week, or may continue to receive more training following on from week 2's training.

Monday to Friday

Depending on your chosen school placements and requirements will determine where your placement will be. Your contract will be discussed between you the Teacher and the School. You may be asked to work weekends and have some days off in the week. Below are some of the location in which you may teach.

- Jilin Province
- Guangxi Province
- Guangdong
- Zhejiang Province
